7	Good variety of speakers - different perspectives	Mar 4, 2011 10:09 AM
8	Overview of current research	Mar 3, 2011 11:05 AM

10	The last part, the Kim Film and talk	Mar 3, 2011 10:34 AM
11	The variety of presentations and quality of speakers.	Mar 3, 2011 10:23 AM
12	I thought that all the speakers were excellent, and a good range of topics was covered	Mar 3, 2011 10:19 AM
13	Inputs from Dr Peter Misch and David Mandel - really interesting to hear about Dr Misch's experiences dealing with YP and parents and David Mandel's input was really thought provoking in terms of how we deal with the abusive partner as a parent.	Mar 3, 2011 10:00 AM

Q3. What did you find least enjoyable?

1	The majority of the information in presentations could be found on the internet.	Mar 21, 2011 12:35 PM
2	The venues facilities for lunch and breaks were not suitable. There were few tables/chairs in order that delegates could sit and eat/drink. This made networking difficult as people were sitting on the floor and wandering around trying to find a space to sit and eat/drink.	Mar 7, 2011 4:09 PM
3	Sitting on the floor to eat my lunch!	Mar 7, 2011 11:45 AM
4	That two presentations were around the Respect toolkit, which i am not interested in..	Mar 4, 2011 4:37 PM
5	Bit crowded and that good projects all very localised as we all know issues out there but no one co-coordinating good practise across country.	Mar 4, 2011 10:09 AM
6	Realising that the toolkit is only available after completing a course that is beyond our budget	Mar 3, 2011 11:05 AM

13	N/A	Mar 2, 2011 6:22 PM

15	The Respect Toolkit stuff	Mar 2, 2011 4:51 PM
16	nothing. all useful.	Mar 2, 2011 4:50 PM

11	More nationally accessible organisations and more contact numbers for organisations that practitioners could take away.	Mar 3, 2011 9:34 AM
12	To hear more from young people's experiences both as speakers and on film	Mar 2, 2011 11:10 PM

6	Survivor perspective	Mar 3, 2011 10:34 AM
7	I would be particularly interested in a presentation or workshop from someone with expertise around domestic abuse within same-sex relationships, as this is an area where I have no experience and limited knowledge.	Mar 3, 2011 10:23 AM
8	More relating to ASB	Mar 3, 2011 9:34 AM

1	It was appalling that there was no seating for lunch and delegates had to stand or sit on the floor! Apart from this being uncomfortable the safety aspects of balancing hot food were not considered. I would not attend this venue again	Mar 21, 2011 12:35 PM

4	Not sat around tables, difficult to eat standing up,	Mar 2, 2011 4:51 PM

Q7. Please use this space for any feedback you wish to share with us.

1	It was a most disappointing day, I have attended previous events and found them to be useful but this event was poor a complete waste of time, effort and money in travelling. Respect were keen to congratulate themselves on the development of the YP's toolkit and the objective was clearly to sell training & the toolkit. A self serving and a complacent attitude emerged from the representatives of Respect - what a shame	Mar 21, 2011 12:35 PM

5	I felt that compared to many conferences, this gave excellent value for money, being less expensive but with a higher quality of input. The venue was as convenient as possible given being London based (I travelled from North West).	Mar 3, 2011 10:23 AM
6	I thought that the whole day was very interesting and useful to me. I learnt a great deal. Thank you.	Mar 3, 2011 10:19 AM
